	Description: This unusual log and frame, two and a half story house sits on a hill facing west a considerable distance from the road. It is a seven bay by three bay house now covered by beige aluminum siding. The west (front) porch has a shed roof supported by seven heavy square posts. There are two-over-two double hung windows throughout the older sections of the house, flanked by louvered shutters. The 1970s addition has modern windows. The house has two intersecting gable roofs covered by red raised seam metal covering.
10.	Significance: This log and frame house on an early upper County land grant expresses the successful merging of architectural periods into a simple, handsome farmhouse. Lying on part of "Addition to Brooke Grove", the Walter Magruder house was built in several stages. A log house owned by James Brooke in 1783 survives as part of the main house. Much of its original detail has been retained: an exterior kitchen fireplace, unique chestnut construction material, and the original flooring have needed little restoration. James Brooke willed the 2,000 acre property to his son Thomas. It changed hands 4 more times by 1852 when Walter Magruder purchased 27 acres. He lived there 22 years, buying 300 more acres and probably adding the large two-story wing and the long wooden porch. A family burial plot lies ½ mile from the house. His heirs sold 300 acres to Crittenden H. Walker in 1899. The Walker family owned the Magruder House until 1932. In 1948 Warren E. Tydings bought the house, and in 1972 began its restoration.

DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This unusual log and frame, two and a half story farmhouse, sits on a hill facing south, set back a considerable distance from the Laytons-ville Road.

Built on fieldstone foundations, it is seven bays across and three bays deep and has been covered entirely by huge aluminum clapboard siding. There is a porch on the south elevation, thought to have been built in the mid-1800s by Walter Magruder. It has a shed roof with red raised seam metal covering and supported by seven heavy square posts. The paneled south (front) door is surmounted by a three-light transom. A second door opens east onto this porch. There are two-over-two double hung windows flanked by louvered shutters. There is one small louvered ventilator window in the east gable end; there are no other windows on that elevation. During the 1970s a frame addition was built on the north elevation. Windows in this section are contemporary. The house has two gable roofs at right angles to each other and covered by red raised seam metal roofing. The cornice line is boxed and returned at the west gable. There is an exterior end chimney on the east elevation and an interior chimney between the north (family) room and the center (dining) room.

The house was built in several stages: the earliest structure was a one and a half story log house (now the dining room). This had an unusual exterior fieldstone fireplace on the west wall that probably was protect of from the elements by a lean-to with a shed roof. During the mid-nineteenth century, Walter Magruder added a two and a half story frame structure, which abutted the log house on the east. This is now the living room.

A third addition, to the west, was erected which incorporated the red exterior fieldstone fireplace. In the 1970's the house grew again with a north addition (containing a kitchen, library, and service area).

The south (front) door opens into a central hallway. A single run, open-string stairway with a simple newel post and handrail ascends from south to north along the east interior wall. East of the hall is the living room; west is the dining room. West of the dining room is the family room. A closed string, single run stairway with winders ascends from north to south. This stairway is located in the northwest corner of the room and is enclosed by tongue and groove paneling.

The most unusual feature in the house is the log walls found in the dining room, hallway, and west interior wall in the living room. These walls have been carefully restored and have been re-chinked by concrete and painted white and in the living room, light yellow. The logs themselves appear to have been varnished. The dining room has random width floorboards, while the remainder of the house has narrow floorboards. The family room has bullseye door moldings, but the living and dining rooms have simple unpainted wooden door frames and either paneled or board and batten doors. A cupboard has been built into the north wall in the dining room where, it is supposed, there was once a window. This cupboard is constructed of simple board and batten doors. The fireplace surround has been plastered.

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

The Walter Magruder House lies on part of a tract called "Addition to Brooke Grove" in upper Montgomery County. James Brooke had resurveyed this land in 1750-52 and was granted a land patent in 1762. By 1783, the year before James Brooke died, the Tax Assessment for Montgomery County listed on this land, in addition to a "brick house", (no longer extant) "a log dwelling house" and 28 log cabins and 3 tobacco houses. 1

This log house survives as part of the Walter Magruder House. Near the house is an underground spring probably found by Brooke and significant in his choice of this site as a farm complex. The continued use of this house as a dwelling has allowed much of its original detail to be retained. The exterior kitchen fireplace, the unique chestnut construction material and the original flooring have survived with little restoration needed.

This agricultural land changed hands many times throughout its 200 year history. James Brooke purchased the property prior to 1777, and willed to his heirs and to his son, Thomas, 2,000 acres. Hannah Brooke Briggs, heir of Thomas Brooke, received "Addition to Brooke Grove" as part of her share in 1794.2 The property did not change hands again until 1812 when Samuel Riggs sold 245 acres to Reuben Riggs for 1,000 pounds current money. In 1838 Josiah W. Jones purchased 55 acres for $1,656. It was Jones who later sold to Walter Magruder 27 acres, on June 16, 1852.5 Walter Magruder lived there for 22 years and acquired 300 acres.

burial plot of Walter Magruder and his family, as mentioned in the land Records in 1899, is located approximately ½ mile from the house. there are Samuel Magruder (died Dec. 1835), Walter Magruder (died Sept. 26, 1874, aged 72 years) and his wife Mary (died March 7, 1864).7

It is believed that during Walter Magruder's residence the large two story east wing was built, thereby doubling the size of the house, and adding the long wooden porch. The interior of the east end is not distinguished by mid-19th century detail, but is instead quite plain as befitting a farmhouse of this type.

After Walter Magruder's death his sole heirs were the three daughters of James Clagett. In 1899 they sold 300 acres to Crittenden H. Walker for $10,521.87.8 The Walker family owned "Addition to Brooke Grove" and the Magruder house until 1932 when George Plummer, administrator of Crittenden H. Walker, deceased, sold at public sale 177.9 acres to Clarence H. Small.9 In 1948, Clarence H. Small sold to Warren E. Tydings and Anna Marie Tydings. 10 In 1972, Warren Tydings started restoration of the Walter Magruder House, during which the log dwelling and the fieldstone fireplace were discovered from under layers of plaster. The original part of the house is a log structure with a stone chimney; it supposedly dates from 1780, and possibly 1730. The west end of the house dates from about 1910. Both parts have stone foundations.

The house is covered with clapboards. The older section had a three bay facade with the entrance in the east bay; the two east bays were added later. At either end are external chimneys with two story bases and free standing stacks (the larger one on the west end is hidden by the later wing). A shed roofed porch runs across the entire face. The present windows are 2/2 double hung sash.

twentieth-century
The/addition has a gabled facade and is covered with aluminum siding.

West of the house was a large bankbarn, now collapsed. There is also a double corn crib with hewn framing members mortised, tenoned, and pegged together.

APPENDIX A

SITES NOT RECOMMENDED FOR REGULATION UNDER THE HISTORIC PRESERVATION ORDINANCE CHAPTER 24A OF THE MONTGOMERY COUNTY CODE

The following sites have been reviewed by the Montgomery County Historic Preservation Commission and were found not to merit designation of the Master Plan for Historic Preservation. If not included in the Master Plan, these resources may be removed from the Locational Atlas and Index of Historic Sites in Montgomery County. If removed from the Locational Atlas, the sites will no longer be governed by the Moratorium on Alteration and Demolition, Section 24A-10 of the County's Historic Preservation Ordinance. The sites will, however, remain on the Maryland Historical Trust's Inventory.

The following sites were found by the Preservation Commission to be too greatly altered from the period of their architectural or historical significance or not to meet Ordinance criteria for designation.
