Oral History

From Patricia Tyson 2017:

The Mt. Zion M.E. Church was located at the corner of Seminary Place and Georgia Avenue, where Staples and Domino's Pizza are located. Then, there was next to it a wide driveway. Next to the driveway was a parking area and next to that piece of land was the cemetery. The cemetery was located where the cleaners and CVS stand. Parking for Staples now covers the area where the cemetery was located.

There was a parsonage on Seminary Place next door to the church; the driveway skirt may still be there. The water tower was there, but only about a third the size that it is now.

This land of the church and the cemetery stood on higher ground; when the church was razed, everything was graded level, and Snowden Funeral Home moved the graves to Maryland National Cemetery on Baltimore Avenue in Laurel, MD.

Mt. Zion United Methodist Church's location at Maryland National is clearly marked and the head stones were bought for each family's plot. The area of the cemetery is identified as Van Buren—not Mt. Zion. Those graves moved from the old cemetery were Civil War graves, etc.—probably Caucasians—unknown to the colored members. Most of the members, who were colored, were buried in their home neighborhood cemeteries. I don't believe any of them were buried in the old Mt. Zion cemetery.

The people buried at Maryland National died after the property in Montgomery Hills was sold. My grandmother died after the property was sold, but is buried in Barnesville where she was born. The cemetery sat behind the parking area--taken care of by the church, but not really efficiently identified. When the church moved, it changed its name from Mt. Zion to Van Buren Street because of its location on that street. Later, it dropped the "Street" and became Van Buren UMC.
