New Faces in Congress

L. Gary Clemente, Former G. U. Athlete, Returns as House Member From New York

L. Gary Clemente, a Democrat and a graduate of Georgetown University Law school, will replace Representative Gregory McMahon, Republican, of New York, a member of the House District Committee from the State's 4th district. Mr. Clemente was victorious in the November election.

Mr. Clemente, a native of the borough of Queens, New York City, has had a career as an Army officer, an attorney, active in civic affairs in his home community of South Ozone Park, N. Y., and as a member of the New York City Council.

At Georgetown University he played football, baseball and also was a member of the university boxing team.

Admitted to the bar of the District in November, 1931, he later practiced law in Jamaica, N. Y., until he entered the Army as a second lieutenant. He had held a reserve officer's commission since 1928. After five years of active military duty he was released with the rank of lieutenant colonel and became a member of the law firm of Bauso, Cowley, Clemente and O'Hara.

The new House member belongs to about 30 civic, religious and patriotic organizations and has been president of several.

Among his affiliations are the American Legion, Catholic War Veterans, Italian American World War Veterans, Veterans of Foreign Wars, 302nd Armored-Cavalry Reserve Group, two welfare leagues, the Real Estate Brokers, Guild of Catholic Lawyers, Knights of Columbus, Loyal Order of Moose, Elks Lodge, Police Athletic League, Queens Botanical Garden Society and Mayor's Golden Jubilee Committee.

Mr. Clemente is married and has two children, Christina and Gary.
