The main northwest section faces north and has three bays with a door in the northeast bay. A one-story porch crosses the first story. There are interior fireplaces on both levels at the west wall, and there are chair-rails and other early trim here.

Built onto the east end is a two-story section that extends north to south (perpendicular to the horizontal section). This part has two bays on its north end, and there are chair-rails here, also. Windows in both sections are all six-over-six.

The third part is probably earlier yet since it is a low, one-story section with a massive stone fireplace chimney embedded in the east wall. The house is now sheathed in German siding, but old clapboards and nails can be seen on the rear of the west part. Like the two other Holland houses in the valley, there is a blank end wall with two small windows high in the gable end, and a two-story porch extends to the rear of the house.

10. Significance: This farm house overlooking the lovely Hawlings River Valley between Brookeville and Brighton is associated with the Holland family, who first bought land in the area from Richard Simmons in 1742.

In 1834 the children of James Holland divided the estate of their late father according to his will. Grafton Holland received 92 acres of land from the tract "Bordley's Choice" with buildings and improvements. He probably built or improved the house at this time which approximately coincided with the time of his marriage. His first child, Thomas Jr. was born a year later. Grafton added to his holdings, between 1840 and 1854 he accumulated an additional 544 acres of land, two servants, two slaves and $10,000 in personal property.

The property remained in the Holland family until 1929. The current owner purchased the property in 1953.

SPECIFIC DATES c. 1830 BUILDER/ARCHITECT Grafton Holland

STATEMENT OF SIGNIFICANCE

This farm house overlooking the lovely Hawlings River Valley between Brookeville and Brighton is associated with the Holland family, who first bought land in the area from Richard Simmons in 1742.¹

Grafton Holland, who is traditionally considered the builder of this home, was born in 1800, the son of James Holland. In 1834 Grafton and his brothers and sisters, Charles, Lemuel, Philip, Sarah, Ann, and Mercy Ann, divided the estate of their late father according to his oral will.² The three girls were to get the mansion house of James Holland and 369 acres, and the boys were to get their own farms. At that time Grafton received 92 acres of "Bordley's Choice" with buildings and improvements.

It is probable that Grafton Holland built or expanded his home at about the time of his inheritance which was also shortly after his marriage to his wife, Ellen, and shortly before the birth of his first child, Thomas J., in 1835. He seems to have been an industrious and successful farmer: by 1840 he had two servants and two slaves in his household;³ by 1841 he had an additional 100 acres of farm land;⁴ by 1850 his worth was given as $10,000 in the Census Record, and by the 1854 tax assessment his property includes 100 acres of "Bordley's Choice" and 344 acres of part of "Rum Punch" and part of Dublin.⁶

Following Grafton's death in 1863, his son Thomas J. inherited 99 acres of Bordley's Choice with the home and 49 acres of the Gittings HaHa property.⁷ He and his wife Charlotte apparently had no children, and they sold his land to his nephew, James C. Holland, in 1900 for $5,863.37.⁸ His son Willie Grafton Holland inherited the property in 1929 and immediately sold it to Gertrude Doyle,⁹ who retained ownership until 1953. The old Grafton Holland farm is now owned by Joseph Solem, a Washington, D.C., attorney.

IMPLEMENTATION

Once designated on the Master Plan for Historic Preservation, any substantial changes to the exterior of a resource or its environmental setting must be reviewed by the Historic Preservation Commission and a historic area work permit issued. The Ordinance also empowers the County's Department of Environmental Protection and the Historic Preservation Commission to prevent the demolition of historic buildings through neglect.

It is the intent of the Master Plan and Ordinance to provide a rational system for evaluating, protecting and enhancing Montgomery County's heritage for the benefit of present and future residents. The accompanying challenge is to weave protection for this heritage into the County's planning program so as to maximize community support for preservation and minimize infringement on private property rights.

THE AMENDMENT

The purpose of this Preliminary Draft Amendment is to consider the Montgomery County Historic Preservation Commission's recommendations that the following sites be designated on the Master Plan for Historic Preservation and protected under the County's Historic Preservation Ordinance, Chapter 24A of the Montgomery County Code. A copy of the Ordinance is provided in Appendix B of this document.

(NOTE: Unless otherwise specified in the Preservation Commission's nomination, the recommended environmental setting for each site is the entire parcel on which the resource is located as of the date it is designated on the Master Plan as defined in Section 24A-2 of the County's Preservation Ordinance. Where additional buildings of historical or architectural importance are associated with a site, these buildings are noted in the nomination as being part of the recommended setting.)

Atlas #	Site	Location
15/55	Spencer/Carr House	2420 Spencerville

- Dating from 1855 with a rear section added in the 1870's, this three-story house is distinguished by three over three windows on the third floor and a one-story porch with bracketed pillars on the front facade.
- Significant as an example of the "Spencerville style", a local style characterized by a special grouping of architectural detail most notably half windows on the third story extending into the boxed cornice and roof line.

- 23/66 Bordley's Choice (Merrywood) 20015 Georgia Avenue
- Began in 1763 and expanded circa 1868, this massive fieldstone structure today is most representative of mid 19th century Second Empire architecture.
 - Associated in its early years with the prominent Riggs family of Montgomery County.
 - Served for over 50 years as the home for the prestigious Brookeville Academy, a private school for boys started in 1815.
 - The recommended environmental setting includes all outbuildings associated with site and the entrance drive to the main house.
- 23/71 Far View 21450 New Hampshire Avenue
- Example of a late 18th century stone farmhouse of simple styling possessing a clarity of line and high quality of workmanship.
 - Included in the recommended environmental setting are the 1836 stone bank barn and slave quarters, which are notable for the quality of their masonry work.
- 23/79 Roslyn Bank Barn 20401 New Hampshire Avenue
- Fine example of a 19th century bank barn with refinement of details such as the stone columns.
 - Built in the 1840's by Henry Stabler, prosperous local farmer and eminent horticulturist who developed the popular Stabler strain of corn.
 - The recommended environmental setting consists of the building footprint of the frame bank barn.
- 23/82 Grafton Holland Farm 2222 Brighton Dam Road
(Sunnymeade Farm)
- Ca. 1830 -- Frame and log farmhouse built in three sections with each section representative of the evolution of rural architecture in the area.
 - Associated with the Holland family, influential land-owners and farmers in the Brookeville/Brighton area.
 - The recommended environmental setting includes all outbuildings associated with the site.
