I. Introduction to PETA

Founded in 1980, People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals, Inc. ("PETA"), is a non-profit corporation exempt from taxation pursuant to §501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. PETA employs nearly 100 people at its Rockville, Maryland headquarters.

PETA is perhaps the foremost animal rights organization in the world. PETA's simple mission is to protect animals from exploitation and cruelty and to bring about positive changes in the ways humans regard other species. Its charitable operations consist of the following departments:

- o Public Education;
- o Research, Investigations and Rescue;
- o International Grassroots Campaigns; and
- o Membership Development;

Throughout its fifteen (15) year history, PETA's membership has grown steadily, today comprising nearly 500,000 people around the world. In 1994, PETA expanded its operations to Europe, opening offices in London, Amsterdam and Hamburg. Member donations comprise the majority of its annual operating budget. In fiscal year 1994, eighty percent (80%) of PETA's expenses went directly to carrying out its charitable program services.

STAFF RECOMMENDATION

Staff feels that the HPC should take a long view of the care of this particular property. The HPC's mission is the preservation of the Aspin Hill Pet Cemetery. There may be ways to prohibit further encroachment on the open space, such as the use of easements which would prohibit all further construction.

The proposed location for a new facility takes advantage of the existing roadway, and entrance onto the site. In addition, this is the location the furthest removed from existing and neighboring residences. The proposed site is an open grassy area, with no large trees. Staff recommends that further study and site development could be reviewed favorably.

provides access for all of these structures; there is also a gravel parking area off of Aspen Hill Road, and a gravel paths leading through the cemetery to the office.

PROJECT PROPOSAL

The Owners have come before the HPC to inquire about the potential for new construction in the cemetery. Attached to this staff report is a proposal summary prepared March 1, 1995 and provided by Jeffrey Kerr, General Counsel and Director of Finance at PETA.

The proposal includes several elements:

1. construct 30,000 square feet of office space, in a low-rise building;
2. construct adjacent parking and driveway access;
3. retain existing vegetative screening;
4. retain all existing buildings

STAFF DISCUSSION

PETA was established only 15 years ago, in 1980. In those few years, the organization has developed into a world-wide membership group with nearly 500,000 people. There are offices in London, Amsterdam and Hamburg. PETA has been at this site since 1988, and they anticipate remaining at this site in the future.

The intersection of Aspen Hill Road and Georgia Avenue has changed considerably since the Birneys operated their business here. The streets are currently designed for high-speed traffic. On the east side of Georgia Avenue, opposite from the Aspin Hill Memorial Park is the large open space of the Gate of Heaven Cemetery. Across the Aspen Hill Road from the project site is a shopping center. Adjacent to the cemetery, there is a church.

Staff feels that the proposal has possibilities, in that the new construction would be concentrated in the general area of existing infrastructure, and would not disturb existing buildings or existing grave sites. In addition, the proposed construction would stand opposite to an existing shopping center, but the area adjacent to the neighboring church would remain open space. Therefore, the Aspin Hill historic site would still be visible from Aspen Hill Road.

If the facility is restricted in terms of height, and is a good design, it should not dominate the site or overwhelm the existing historic features on the property. However, several other issues should be considered, including: how long this new facility will meet PETA's needs, and what will happen when is this facility should prove too small in the future; will PETA come back to the HPC with a request to enlarge the built-over area, or would they propose to move to another site; and if they moved to another site, what would happen to this office facility. Staff has discussed these concerns with PETA, and they have indicated that they will propose a facility that has some room for internal growth. In addition, they plan to remain on this site in the future. Should the organization grow beyond the limitations of the site, PETA will look for space at another location.

SITE DESCRIPTION

The Aspin Hill Pet Cemetery has been designated in the County's Master Plan for Historic Preservation (#27/17) on the basis that it represents a significant element of 20th century culture. When it was founded, in 1921 by Richard and Bertha Birney, this was one of the first animal cemeteries in the nation as well as the only authorized animal hospital south of New York.

The Birneys operated a kennel to board and breed dogs which was widely recognized and utilized in the Washington area. At first, they buried only their own and friends' animals here. However, after receiving many requests for burial sites from customers and others, they opened the pet cemetery as a public facility.

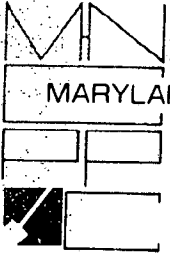

Famous animals buried here include J. Edgar Hoover's seven dogs and "Jiggs", the dog from "Spanky and Our Gang" who died in 1938. There are presently more than 50,000 animals buried here, over an area that encompasses approximately four acres.

People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals, Inc. (PETA) acquired this 7.79 acres in 1988. PETA has renamed the cemetery "The Aspin Hill Memorial Park." The property is protected with covenants precluding general development and mandating its use as an animal care facility and cemetery in perpetuity.

Currently there are several buildings on the property which are concentrated in the eastern third of the property, along Georgia Avenue. The remaining two-thirds of the property is open space, with existing and potential grave sites. The buildings include a Tudor residence (1930s), the kennel (1930s), and a chapel. There is a circular driveway which
